

H. Kirk Rainer

As of March 2011, H. Kirk Rainer has written, published the following:

- A Once and Always Father - is a dedication to his kids; the content expresses a husband and father's perspectives on marriage and family, courtships and courts, custody and criminalization; and what has happened with the taking of the time-honored treasures of marriage from that of a contract to the present "relationship of convenience"; and all along, addressing the plight of a parent through family law—in the context, conditions and consequences of uncontested divorce, victim's rights, and court conduct.
- A FATHER AND FUTURE FELON - is loosely based on twelve letters—written from jail—the book is a dedication to fathers and to those who fit similar roles and responsibility. Drawing from the works of Saint Augustine, the Bible, historical and other-subject resources; each chapter offers alliteration on fatherhood—in a physical setting of St. John's County (FL) and other detainees that he generally categorizes as "Fellows/Fathers".

These publications are available at the St. Johns Public Library; e-versions of the books are available at www.alwaysfather.com.

A third book of similar theme is being developed as of 2011; the proposed title comes from the Book of Job: His Children are far from Safety. The cover design, as shown at the right, applies safety-orange along with striping and an image of light—all of which is common to safety barricades and other equipment. More information can be found on the thematic Website at alwaysfather.com and, in addition, has been presented in Video on the author's face-book account. The book will be a fictional fable of sort—loosely based on the Book of Job with influences and references still under development.

He has embarked on a personal crusade aimed, at the least, to enable his own children to know that he still loves and cares for them. To this purpose, he has gained much support and understanding from such organizations as: American Coalition for Fathers and Children (acfc.org); Alabama Family Rights Association (alfra.org); Protect Fathers' Right (protectfathersrights.org); National Father Initiative (fatherhood.org); Institute for American Values (AmericanValues.org); and the Florida International University (FIU), "The State of Fatherhood" research.
